ROCKEFELLER, JR. RUNS FOOTRACE WITH GRIM DEATH

SUNRISE, Wyo.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., now knows how it feels to run a foot race with death. The millionaire, who was inspecting the iron mines belonging to his Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, insisted on going directly into the heart of the open face workings, where a whole mountain is being blasted away.

He did not wait for the superintendent to accompany him. The dynamite men, not knowing visitors were approaching, lit the fuses of nearly fifty enormous blasts. The New Yorker was almost into the pit when the miners, hiding in their bomb proof shelters, hundreds of yards away, saw him and shouted frantically for him to run. Mr. Rockefeller, with his secretary, Charles O. Heydt, and W. L. Mackenzie King at his heels, fled at top speed backward across the steep, rugged mountainside.

He had barely reached a steam shovel car and crawled underneath between the trucks, when the blasts began to go off in a series of furious detonations that shook the ground and filled the air with flying rocks as large as a man's head. The car was heavily bombarded for seven or eight minutes.

When the charges all had been exploded, Mr. Rockefeller sent for Superintendent L. B. Weed and announced that he would put himself in Mr. Weed's hands for the rest of the day.

"This is a bit more dangerous than going about the Colorado coal mines," he said. "I'd better stick with someone who knows the signals for this blasting."

Schofield Notes

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Oct. 29.—Before a large assemblage which included all the officers and non-commissioned officers stationed at Schofield Barracks and many of the ladies of the garrison, the new general library at Schofield Barracks was formally opened at 3 p. m., Wednesday.

Education in the army is one of Gen. Carter's hobbies, and when he found that the War Department would not build a much-needed library at our largest army post, Gen. Carter took it upon himself to accumulate a library by donations from his many friends and acquaintances, and to acquire sufficient funds to erect a building by subscriptions. A surprising amount of interest was taken in this scheme by people on the mainland as well as in Honolulu. At first books began to arrive in packages of 10 and 25, and then by hundreds, and are still coming. The library opened with close to 10,000 volumes and is expected to have 18,000 within a year.

The library is beautifully furnished, with a reading and writing room for enlisted men and a smaller one for officers. Above one of the large fireplaces is an almost life-size photograph of Gen. William H. Carter by Bonine. Every volume in the library has been catalogued and the building is one of the few at Schofield that is electric lighted.

Chaplain William A. Aiken, 1st Infantry, has been appointed librarian, and his assistants are to be Sgt. C. F. Schutte, Q. M. C., and Pvt. Joseph Kolar, Company A, 1st Infantry.

Following the very simple dedication a reception was given at the 1st Infantry Club in honor of Gen. and Mrs. Carter, and was followed by a dance in the open air pavilion adjoining the club.

Siege Guns are Fired.
Almost the entire day yesterday was devoted to target practice by four coast artillery companies, using 5-inch siege rifles and 7-inch siege howitzers. The guns were fired at canvas targets at a distance of over 6000 yards, and many of the targets were pierced by fragments of shell or shrapnel bullets.

A large assemblage witnessed the firing and listened to the speech of the big projectiles. Among those present were Gen. John F. Wesser, Col. William C. Rafferty, C. A. C.; Col. S. D. Sturges, 1st Field Artillery, and Lieut.-col. W. E. Ellis, C. A. C. Lieut.-col. George Blakely was in charge of the practice.

The 68th and 91st Companies from Fort Kamehameha fired the 7-inch howitzers; the 55th Company from Fort De Russy and the 159th Company from Fort Ruger fired the 5-inch siege rifles. These companies arrived at Schofield Barracks by marching late Wednesday afternoon, and will return to their posts over the road tomorrow.

The 165th Company from Fort Ruger and the 143d Company from Fort Kamehameha will be out next Monday to engage in target practice.

Reception and Dance.
Invitations have been received by the commanding officers of the different regiments and corps at Schofield, inviting all the officers and ladies of the garrison to attend a reception and dance to be given in honor of the coronation of His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan, at the Alhambra, Young Hotel, on Wednesday evening, November 10, at 8:30 o'clock. The invitation comes from Acting Consul General and Mrs. Ariga.

EVERYONE IN U. S. MUST BE CITIZEN, SAYS ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, N. Y.—"The foreign born population of this country must be an Americanized population. No other kind can fight the battles of America, either in war or in peace."

Col. Theodore Roosevelt so asserted in a speech on "Americanism" before the Knights of Columbus at Carnegie hall. Colonel Roosevelt said that at the outset it was the duty of immigrants to learn English, and it was the duty of America to provide them opportunities to learn English. He suggested also adopting a military system similar to the Swiss.

"If an immigrant is not fit to become a citizen, he should not be allowed to come here," said Colonel Roosevelt. "If he is fit he should be given all the rights to earn his own livelihood and better himself than any man can have."

"There is no room in this country for hyphenated Americans," he said. "When I refer to hyphenated Americans, I do not refer to naturalized Americans. Some of the very best Americans that I have ever known were naturalized Americans—Americans born abroad. But a hyphenated American is not an American at all."

Speaking of preparedness, Colonel Roosevelt said that even in time of peace individuals and the railroad should cooperate and that industrial disturbances should be eliminated.

"The strike situation in the United States at this time is a scandal to the country as a whole and discreditable alike to employer and employee," he said.

WOOD PULP IN NEW EXPLOSIVE

Teutons Find Substitute for Cotton, Now Declared Contraband

LONDON, Eng.—The question whether the Germans are finding wood pulp an efficient substitute for cotton in the manufacture of high explosives has been investigated by the Paper Maker, which has consulted several experts.

Sir William Ramsay says: "I quite agree that it is highly probable that the Germans are making nitro-lignose from wood fiber. This is the tragedy of our days being too late. I quite agree that we should declare wood pulp contraband, but I hesitate to start another campaign; it takes so much time and energy."

Another expert, Walter F. Ried, sees no value in declaring wood pulp contraband, for "Germany has such large areas of forest containing suitable woods that the present rate of consumption of explosives could be maintained for years without importation of wood pulp." He adds that one of the most popular smokeless powders has been made of wood pulp for more than 30 years.

INSANE PATIENT ESCAPES; CRACKS SAFE LIKE EXPERT

PUEBLO, Colo.—David Gouch, 41, a patient at the Colorado hospital for the insane and known there as the "man of mystery," escaped and found his way to Mesa Junction, where he opened and robbed a large modern safe of the Mesa Market Company with all the boldness, cunning and expertness of a professional. Gouch took only cash, amounting to $7245, and then departed to wander aimlessly about until he was arrested because of his peculiar actions. The man was not suspected of having robbed the safe until he was searched.

Gouch knows nothing of what occurred and has been returned to the asylum. Ten years ago Gouch was sent here from Denver and even at that time he did not know his name, which was discovered by accident, but it was impossible to trace his antecedents.

PUBLICITY AS SAFEGUARD FOR INSURANCE URGED

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Mark T. McKee, secretary-treasurer of the national council of insurance federation executives, in a paper read before the World's Insurance Congress here, advocated widespread newspaper publicity as a means of safeguarding the insurance business. Such publicity, he said, "awakens confidence by removing skepticism and ought to be more thoroughly indorsed and used by insurance companies."

It is said that a noted English entomologist recently paid $1,000 for a rare specimen of flea which is occasionally found in the fur of the sea otter.
